Langmobile is a Canadian company that has been teaching languages to children since 2002. We expanded our local in-person workshops and summer camps to include an online platform, allowing us to share our love of languages and teach to hundreds of children throughout the world.

The Langmobile method works because it is immersive! We have created a content website hosting our original interactive activities, music and video. Our approach encourages a responsive classroom and uses a whole-brain-teaching approach, both strategies are based on the aspects of development of a child's age. Langmobile accompanies students through the learning of basic grammatical elements and language fundamentals in an environment where they have an authentic meaningful experience with a live teacher.
